

Making the list: A W's Holiday Gift Guide

This story comes from the 11/30/09 issue of AutoWeek magazine. Reading the magazine is the only way to make sure you don't miss anything. If you aren't getting the magazine, you can sign up today for a low price. GET AUTOWEEK MAGAZINE TODAY!

ELECTRONICS/COMMUNICATION

Parrot Minikit Slim

The Parrot Slim Bluetooth is easy to program and easy to use. The voice-activated kit charges from a cigarette lighter or USB port.

www.parrot.com

$100

Scala Rider Q2 Multiset

These Bluetooth-enabled headsets are perfect for the biking pair. An enhanced bike-to-bike communication device, the Scala Rider is hands-free and easy to use.

www.cardosystems.com

$400

TomTom XL 340S Live

The TomTom XL takes portable navigation to the next level. Live traffic, local search powered by Google and a handful of other live features make this the nav system to buy.

www.tomtom.com

$300

Jawbone PRIME

The Jawbone PRIME earpiece allows you to be in touch safely and stylishly all day long. Colors include, Blah Blah Black, Yello!, Lilac You Mean It and more.

www.jawbone.com

$130

Pioneer In-Dash Navigation Receiver

The Pioneer AVIC-U310BT navigation unit features a CD player, Bluetooth capability and an iPod input in addition to the navigation features we all love.

www.pioneerelectronics.com

$600

BlueAnt Q1 Voice-Controlled Bluetooth Headset

The voice-controlled BlueAnt Headset uses Voice Isolation Technology, so whether you're at the races or driving with the top down, you'll be heard loud and clear.

www.myblueant.com

$130

EntouragePS

This portable GPS from Escort doesn't give you turn by turn directions but it will locate your vehicle, email you if it's moved, and text you if the window gets broken.

www.escortradar.com

$350

Read

more: <http://www.autoweek.com/article/20091207/CARNEWS/912079997#ixzz0cydSMqNs>